

Dear Teachers,

Once again Macmillan ELT is delighted to invite you to the training highlight of the year – the Macmillan Teachers' Day which will take place at Centro de Congresos Victor Villegas, Murcia on Thursday 22nd March 2012.

At the Macmillan Teachers' Day our principal aim is to offer you practical training workshops that are designed to reflect current teaching contexts, enabling you to keep up-to-date with the latest innovations. You will take away with you sound activities and ideas that you can use directly in your classrooms.

The Macmillan team will be there to give you a warm welcome, present our new materials and answer any queries you have.

As the Macmillan Teachers' Day is extremely popular, we encourage you to reserve your place as soon as possible. To make registration easier, we have an online registration process. You can reserve your place by visiting the 'Teacher Training Events' section of the Macmillan website and completing the online registration form. This will pop up when you click on the map for your area. Once the process is complete, you will receive an email to confirm a place has been booked for you.

Alternatively, you can phone or send an email to the local office, stating your full name, school and the sessions you would like to attend.

Tel: 968 84 69 84
Email: murcia@macmillan.es

We look forward to seeing you there!

Best wishes,

Yolanda Hernández

Her latest publication is Captain Jack 1 & 2 the new three level Infant course published by Macmillan ELT, 2011. Jill currently teaches phonics in a school near Barcelona.

Rebecca Mitchell

Rebecca has worked as a teacher and a teacher trainer in Mexico, the United Kingdom and Spain for many years. She has taught all ages and levels in private schools, including International House and the British Council. In Mexico she was an external teacher trainer at Morelia University and she has delivered Young Learner teacher training workshops in the British Council in Valencia. Rebecca currently works as a teacher trainer for Macmillan ELT.

Patrick Howarth

Patrick is a freelance teacher, trainer and writer based in Valencia. He has worked in London, Budapest, Prague, and Madrid. He is co-author of the Macmillan ESO course Interface and is writing a new Bachillerato course to be published by Macmillan.

Bart de Rooze

Bart has been teaching English for over 13 years. He is also an official translator after having gained his qualifications from the University of Granada (2003). Since 1987 he has taught English at Secondary level and organised exchange programmes for students. He is currently Head of the Language Department at El Carmelo School, Granada.

Sessions

Room 1

Jill Leighton

In this practical session we will look at a variety of motivating learning activities and be shown how to develop emotional intelligence in the classroom. We will also have fun with phonics/pronunciation. Captain Jack will be helping out. Be prepared to play pirates!

Rebecca Mitchell

What skills do we need as CLIL teachers that we didn't or don't need as pure language or content teachers? What skills do we need to be aware of developing in our pupils as CLIL teachers that we didn't or don't need to be aware of in a purely language or content-teaching context? In this session, we will focus on key areas of academic and educational development and demonstrate how these areas can be practically and effectively developed so as to ensure a positive and successful learning experience in the CLIL classroom. Examples used in this session will focus mainly on 3rd cycle Primary social and natural science topics.

Pirates playtime (3 to 5-years-old)

Skills for CLIL: skills for teaching and learning in the CLIL classroom (10 to 12-year-olds)

Room 2

Patrick Howarth

Many students lack confidence when trying to speak in English. This talk looks at a series of practical activities that move students from writing into speaking and show them that speaking can be fun too.

Getting students to speak (Bachillerato)

Bart de Rooze

What can we do as English teachers if we want to use blogs in our classes? In this session we will consider some tricks and tips to get our students writing, reading, developing comprehension and producing language, all skills involved in setting up a blog that really works for us and our students.
